Evidence based research published in 2014…

Psychoeducational groups structured to meet identified needs in five topic domains; functional, physical, spiritual, psychological, and social topics. The work is to alleviate emotional or existential pain empowering the caregiver to be actively involved as part of the medical team, to care for self and normalize their journey’s ups and downs.

Bio:

Kathi Morse, is the Administrative Director of the Palliative Care and Geriatric Service Line at South Nassau Community Hospital in Oceanside New York. She received her Doctorate in Philosophy from the NYU School of Social Work and is an Advance Certified in Hospice and Palliative Care Social Worker.