

Mindfulness and Mindful Living Program: "Mindset Matters"

Friday, April 8, 2016; 8 a.m. – 4 p.m.
Madison Theatre, Public Square,
Molloy College, Rockville Centre campus

Exhibitor Information

You are invited to exhibit at the Mindfulness and Mindful Living Program: "Mindset Matters" Conference that will take place at the Madison Theatre, Public Square, Molloy College, Rockville Centre campus on April 8, 2016.

Back by popular demand is one of our keynote speakers from our last conference, Dr. Romila Mushtaq. This all-day conference includes a five step process to help clients heal from stress based disorders such as depression, anxiety, insomnia and career burnout. Personal healing is a critical cornerstone in healing relationships with spouses, family members, or colleagues. Dr. Romie's 5 Step Mindful Living Program: Mindset Matters will cover the role of self-compassion, contemplation, forgiveness, gratitude, meditation, and public service in healing.

Past conferences have attracted 400-500 plus attendees and we expect the same this year. The intended audience includes anyone involved in the care and/or evaluation of individuals with mental illness, including: clinical mental health counselors, addiction and substance abuse counselors, social workers, nurses, teachers, psychiatrists, psychologists, music therapists, physicians, marriage and family therapists and students.

The fee to exhibit is $400 ($200 non-profit) for the day, from 8:30 a.m. – 4 p.m. However, most vendors leave after lunch. Space is limited, so only 6 exhibitors will be able to attend. Exhibitors will be provided with a 6 ft. table and one conference admission (additional admission: $50 each). The exhibit tables will be in the lobby of the Madison Theatre (where the breakfast, all of the sessions and the morning break will be held).

Please fill out the Exhibitor form and return it to me by March 31, 2016 if you are interested in exhibiting at the conference. You will be billed for the $400 ($200 non-profit) fee. I look forward to your participation and support.
