

OH WHAT A NIGHT!

Molloy College and the Madison Theater, the dynamic duo, has become the hub for superior education and entertainment in Rockville Centre on the South Shore. One of my proudest moments is being selected by Dr. Drew Bogner as an honoree for the 2013 annual Molloy Gala.

As I embarked on the journey of honoree, I learned first-hand, the importance and destination of the mission.

The unselfish dedication of Ed Thompson and his "super team", led by Cathy Muscente, my guiding force and advocate, and Cynthia Metzger with her superior insight, to reach a major financial goal for student scholarships, truly humbled me. How wonderful to know that tonight's Gala helps to provide the necessary financial assistance for much needed student scholarships at Molloy.

My accolades to my most deserving fellow honorees, Buddy and Chris Haunss and Carole Gerrity. How privileged I am to be in your company.

My co-pilots, Marty Bevilacqua, Sal Ciampo, and Linda Kane navigated me onto smooth roads with minimal bumps, with the help of my travel mates (the committee). But the person who was by my side every mile of the way, Marty Bevilacqua (with Susan in the backseat), my dearest friend, guided me to the finish line with strength and support.

I have always believed in Drew Bogner's vision to build the Madison Theatre. Thank you Drew for making dreams come true.

WOW, WHAT A JOURNEY THIS HAS BEEN!!!!

Jan Kaye MacKughtan

